

Dear Mr. Sykes,

We are writing to tell you about a problem we could have in our school. It is that some people could be wheelchair- bound and not be included in activities. We know we can solve it together if we synergize.

First, we could make the doors wider and the bathroom stalls bigger. Then, we could make more ramps near the stairs in the Grade Three area and from the north door. We could arrange the fire bell line ups so it will work for everyone. We could have special lockers for wheelchair bound people. Also, we could get wheelchairs for wheelchair sports so people don't feel left out. We could install automatic doors. They open and close when wheelchair-bound people are near it. We could get desks that are wider and taller. We could also educate people about wheelchair- bound people. Finally, we could have ramps for the buses.

We know it might take longer to get everyone's ideas, but it will be worth it! The solution we create together will be better than what any one of us could have created alone.

Sincerely,
